

Kerala: Central Marine Fisheries Research Institute secures top positions in Indian Council of Agricultural Research rankings

KOCHI: The Central Marine Fisheries Research Institute (CMFRI) has won the first position in the latest ranking of the Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR) in the category of fisheries and animal science institutions in the country.

It also secured the third position in the ranking, which assessed 93 institutes, under all divisions of crop science, horticultural science, natural resource management, agricultural engineering, animal science and fisheries science. The ranking was based on research and other activities of the institutes during 2019-2021.

Also, the CMFRI has been ranked the highest among the ICAR institutes headquartered in Kerala. "This achievement is seen as a recognition for collective efforts of the CMFRI family in research and development" said CMFRI director A Gopalakrishnan.