

Centre to revamp agricultural education with emphasis on skill development

The course curriculum to be restructured by opening up opportunities in the agricultural sector

Kochi: In line with the National Education Policy, the agricultural education will be revamped by giving emphasis on skill development, Seema Jaggi, Additional Director General (HRD), Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR) has said. The course curriculum will be restructured in a way that helps open a wide array of opportunities in the agriculture sector, she added.

She was speaking after inaugurating a 21-day Winter School, a training programme for researchers and academicians, at the ICAR-Central Marine Fisheries Research Institute (CMFRI) on Wednesday.
